

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR, DEPARTMENT OF MATHEMATICS

The Department of Mathematics invites applications for a tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level to begin August 15, 2010.

Bradley University is a distinctive, medium-size, comprehensive private institution of higher learning. The University is located on an 85-acre campus in Peoria, the largest metropolitan area in central Illinois. With approximately 5,000 undergraduate and 800 graduate students, Bradley offers the opportunities and choices of a larger university (with over 130 programs in five colleges, plus a graduate school) and the quality, personal attention, and challenge of a small private college. Bradley is rich in tradition and full of promise to become one of the nation's best comprehensive universities. For additional information about the University visit www.bradley.edu.

Candidates must have a PhD in Mathematics, Statistics, or Actuarial Science by August 15, 2010. Preference will be given to candidates who are broadly trained, have a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching, have college level teaching experience and whose research specialty is in an area of current interest in the department. An active research program and scholarly publication are required for tenure and advancement.

Qualified candidates should submit all application materials electronically. Post the AMS cover letter, a letter of application, current vita, copy of graduate transcripts, description of research, statement of teaching philosophy, and three current letter of recommendation (at least one of which addresses teaching and one research) on the website www.MathJobs.org.

To ensure full consideration, applications should be received by January 18, 2010. Review of applications will continue until the position is filled. Other positions may become available in the future.

Additional information regarding Bradley University and this position may be found at www.bradley.edu or obtained by email from Dr. Mathew Timm at mtimm@bradley.edu.

Bradley University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. The administration, faculty and staff are committed to attracting qualified candidates from underrepresented groups.
