Lori Russell-Chapin,
Associate Dean and
Graduate Studies Coordinator

The College of Education and Health Sciences at Bradley University was founded in June 1985. The mission of the College is to prepare professionals who are uniquely qualified for useful and productive service that promotes the intelligent use of human resources and fosters individual development over the life span. It includes graduate degree programs within the following departments:

1. Educational Leadership and Human Development, offering programs in leadership in educational administration, leadership in human service administration, and human development counseling. Chair: Jenny Tripses.
2. Teacher Education, offering programs in curriculum and instruction with learning behavior specialist I, gifted education, middle school, and reading specialist endorsements available. Interim chair: Jean Marie Grant.
3. Nursing, offering a Master of Science in Nursing (M.S.N.) in nursing administration and in nurse administered anesthesia and supportive courses in nursing. Chair: Francesca Armmer.
4. Physical Therapy and Health Science, offering a Master of Physical Therapy (M.P.T.). Chair: Mary Jo Mays.

Although the Department of Family and Consumer Sciences does not offer a graduate degree program, graduate courses are available to fulfill cognate and elective purposes.

Master of Arts

The Master of Arts degree is conferred upon students who have completed a minimum of 33 graduate semester hours in curriculum and instruction or learning disabilities; 36 graduate semester hours in leadership in educational administration or leadership in human service administration; 51 graduate semester hours in human development counseling.

Before any application can be approved, the Miller Analogies Test (MAT) or the Graduate Record Exam (GRE) must be a part of the candidate's record. The GRE testing program changed significantly in 2002, and this change affected the graduate admissions requirements for the departments in the College of Education and Health Sciences. Questions about these requirements for admission should be directed to the respective department.

The candidate is urged to make necessary testing arrangements with the EHS secretary, 677-3181, for the MAT. Contact the Center for Orientation, Testing and Advisement, 133 Bradley Hall, 677-2409, to make arrangements to take the GRE. This will expedite the application process.

All applicants must complete the prescribed application forms of the College of Education and Health Sciences and Graduate School.

Three letters of reference must be obtained by the applicant from educational field employers or college/university professors who can recommend the applicant as having strong potential for success in graduate studies and in potential continued service to the education profession.

ELH 604 is strongly recommended as the first course taken by all degree candidates. Other core courses that are mandated in all professional education and counseling programs within the College of Education and Health Sciences are ELH 605 and ELH 606. It is recommended that the three required core courses be completed during the first 12 semester hours of the student's program.

Students should consult with their advisor for departmental program requirements.

The Education Reform Act requires that after July 1, 1988, all persons seeking early childhood, elementary, special, high school, school service personnel, or administrative certificates in Illinois must pass both a test of basic skills and a test of subject-matter knowledge. Those persons covered include new graduates from teacher preparation programs, educators moving to Illinois from other states, and Illinois educators applying for additional certification.

All professional education programs requiring certification at Bradley University have been approved by the Illinois State Board of Education and accredited by the National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education.

Educational Leadership and Human Development

Jenny Tripses,
Chair

Administration Programs

The Department of Educational Leadership and Human Development offers two administration programs leading to the Master of Arts degree: leadership in educational administration and leadership in human service administration. The programs develop qualities associated with leadership and informed decision making through coursework that engages students in “making the connections” that are fundamental to success as an administrator. Coursework focuses on establishing connections between theory and practice, and culminates in a supervised field experience.

Leadership in Educational Administration Master’s Degree Program

Accredited by the National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE).

The Leadership in Educational Administration Program is a 36-hour program accredited by NCATE, approved by the Illinois State Board of Education, and satisfying requirements for a Type 75 certificate with the general administrative endorsement necessary for entry level school administrators. The ISBE certification requirements include a teaching certificate and two years of teaching experience.

In addition, the department offers a Type 75 certification program sequence for a person with a master’s degree who wishes to obtain a Type 75 certificate with the general administrative endorsement. The number of hours required will normally vary from 18 to 30, depending upon how the educational background of the student fulfills requirements of the college core and the other required courses. Upon receipt of an application, each student’s transcript is evaluated and required courses established.

For unconditional admission to the program, a student must have an undergraduate overall and cumulative major gradepoint average of 3.0 or higher on a 4.0 scale. Conditional admission requires an undergraduate overall cumulative gradepoint average of 2.75 or higher.

In addition to the GPA requirement, the screening process requires three letters of recommendation that address leadership, ethical behaviors, and professional competencies. One letter of recommendation must be written by a current supervisor. Students are required to come to campus to write an essay on their leadership and ethical behaviors, as well as professional competencies. The writing requirement may be modified for international students.

Human Development Counseling

Accredited by the Council for Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs (CACREP) and the National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE).

The human development counseling program is designed to prepare students for positions as counselors in a variety of settings. The counselor education faculty believes that the work of the professional counselor is to promote the positive growth and development of the clients with whom the counselor interacts.

The human development counseling model for preparing counselors recognizes the profound interactive effect of people and human systems. We believe there is a need for social science translators—people who are in touch with the best in theory and research—who can translate this knowledge into effective programs, and who can evaluate these programs. Because we believe that counselors should experience personal growth and development as persons and as professionals, all courses are designed to provide both cognitive and experiential learning.

The program utilizes a Screening and Retention Policy to assist in determining the suitability of an individual for a career in counseling, as well as to monitor progress through the program. A detailed description of the Screening and Retention Policy and procedures is available in the Human Development Counseling Handbook. Continuance in the program is reviewed if at any time a student fails to demonstrate appropriate professional behaviors; or other circumstances occur which would make an HDC degree candidate uncertifiable as a professional counselor.

Areas of specialization are offered in community and agency counseling and school counseling (NCATE accredited and ISBE approved). The program prepares the student to sit for the exam for certification as a National Certified Counselor or for Illinois Type 73 certification in school guidance and personnel services. Both areas are CACREP accredited. In addition, courses of continuing professional education are offered to practicing counselors who wish to increase competencies to meet emerging needs of the profession.

Program of Study

The program in human development counseling requires 51 semester hours of graduate work at the master's level for completion. The program consists of a graduate core of nine semester hours and a program core of 27 semester hours of study required of all candidates. In addition, students take an additional 15 semester hours of specialty area course work that may, in concert with the internship and practicum work required in the core program, permit them to develop a specialty area consistent with plans for future employment. Areas of study include, but are not limited to, school counseling and community and agency counseling. All students should consult with their advisor to determine specific courses that will meet their professional goals.

Curriculum and Instruction

Jean Marie Grant,
Interim Chair, Department of Teacher Education

The professional education unit is accredited by the National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE).

The curriculum and instruction master's program builds upon the foundation laid at the undergraduate level and continues the emphasis on prekindergarten through twelfth-grade teachers as educational leaders and informed decision makers. Teachers who wish to assume leadership roles within their school systems need to remain current, increase their skill levels, add to their knowledge bases, and increase their repertoire. As informed decision makers who take responsibility for their own continuing education, they also need to participate in the creation of their own professional development plans.

The curriculum and instruction master's program is designed to provide for these needs. While making allowances for individual tailoring, the program includes a common core of courses intended to increase graduate students' skill levels and knowledge base in: technology applications (ETE 551), research applications (ELH 604), legal and social issues (ELH 605), interpersonal and organizational behavior (ELH 606), curriculum theory (ETE 651), instructional design (ETE 653), and assessment strategies (ETE 552, ETE 654, ETE 643*). In addition, the program offers practica, original research, and creative contributions options. Working with a faculty advisor, graduate students plan a program of study which addresses their needs, interests, and professional development goals. These plans may include reading, early childhood education, middle school education, gifted education, and special education within the program of study.

The goal of the curriculum and instruction master's program is to prepare prekindergarten through twelfth-grade teachers to accept greater responsibility in their roles as educational leaders, advocates, and life-long learners by increasing their skill levels, adding to their knowledge bases, and informing their attitudes.

The objectives of the curriculum and instruction master's program are to:

1. Integrate theory with reflective practice.
2. Draw connections between the knowledge base and the professional skills necessary for the success of educational leaders and informed decision makers.
3. Assist teachers in remaining current with regard to educational issues, individualized instruction, and the elements of best practice.
4. Engage teachers in collaborative learning with colleagues who offer similar, as well as diverse, backgrounds, experiences, and views.
5. Individualize programs of study to meet the particular needs of graduate students.
6. Facilitate the development of teachers as life-long learners, who are capable of informing their instructional practices through appropriate application of research results.

College/Department Admissions Requirements
