

Department of Sociology and Social Work

FACULTY Professor L. Salamini (chair); Associate Professor Crawford, Gorin; Assistant Professors Hogan, Zant.

The Department of Sociology offers a variety of courses useful to students with diverse professional goals. Sociology is a popular major for students planning careers in such professions as law, business, journalism, health care, education, politics, social work, or public administration. It provides a solid body of knowledge on the nature and problems of human relations and a distinctive way of looking at the world.

The courses offer a range of methodologies and research techniques which can be applied in a variety of fields such as administration, criminal justice, health care, counseling, and social work. In addition, exposure to theoretical and methodological issues and to comparative, historical, and critical analyses provides those students who want to pursue graduate work with a strong academic background.

The department offers a major and a minor in sociology, and a major in social work. For social work major see Social Work Program.

Major in Sociology

A major in sociology consists of a minimum of 30 semester hours in sociology including the following required core courses:

SOC 100 The Sociological Perspective

SOC 240 Research Methods

SOC 320 Social Theory or SOC 420 Critical Theory

At least 15 of the 30 required hours must be at the 300 level or above. Only one internship course may apply towards the 30-hour requirement. A grade point average of 2.01 in all courses taken in the department is needed for graduation. Students may earn either a B.A. or B.S. degree in sociology.

Sociology majors are urged to consult with a department advisor each semester concerning class schedules.

Sociology Minor

The sociology minor requires a minimum of 15 hours as specified below:

1. SOC 100; SOC 240 or SOC 320
2. At least 9 of the 15 hours must be at the 300 level or above.
3. Minimum of 2.01 grade point average in courses taken for the minor.

The following courses in the Department meet University general education requirements: SOC 100, 240, 300, 311, 312, 313, 314, 315, 321, 323, 325, 420.

- SOC 313 Race, Ethnicity, and Minority Relations 3 hrs.
(Gen. Ed. CD, SF)
Analysis of dominant-minority group relations and the processes of acculturation, assimilation, pluralism, and discrimination; effects of prejudice on interaction and social structure. Various minority groups explored specifically.
- SOC 314 Native Americans 3 hrs.
(Gen. Ed. CD, NW)
Description and analysis of traditional and contemporary cultures of the original inhabitants of the Americas; contemporary problems and aspirations of Indians and Eskimos.
- SOC 315 Gender and Society 3 hrs.
(Gen. Ed. CD, SF)
An examination of gender as a system of stratification, as a social construction, and as a system of meaning which changes trans-historically and differs cross-culturally. Focus on structural and interactional aspects of gender inequality, as well as the relationship between gender and other social hierarchies, including class, race, ethnicity, religion, and sexuality. Prerequisite: SOC 100 or instructor consent.
- SOC 320 Social Theory 3 hrs.
Development of contemporary social thought from its Euro- American past. Emphasis on contemporary social theory and its major strands in American sociology. Prerequisite: SOC 100 or consent of instructor.
- SOC 321 Individuality in the Modern World 3 hrs.
(Gen. Ed. HP)
Various philosophical conceptions of the relationship between the individual and social order; nature and status of individuality in the modern world. Emphasis on critical evaluation of influential systems of thought: Marxism, phenomenology, and critical theory. Prerequisite: junior standing or consent of instructor.
- SOC 322 Self, Mind, and Society 3 hrs.
Interdisciplinary exploration of the interplay between cultural values, social interaction, language, and moral reasoning that draws on classic and contemporary works within the fields of sociology, philosophy, anthropology, and psychology. Emphasis on the evolution of self-awareness and secondary emotions such as empathy and on their implications for the self-regulation of behavior. Focus on the interrelationship between these uniquely human capacities and their role in the creation and reproduction of culture. Discussion of current postmodern theories of self and identity within a global society. Prerequisite: SOC 100 or instructor consent.
- SOC 323 Marxism and Critical Perspectives 3 hrs.
(Gen. Ed. SF)
Basic concepts and methods of Marxism as formulated by contemporary Marxist social theorists: alienation, dehumanization, bureaucratization, and revolutionary consciousness in advanced capitalist societies. Prerequisite: junior standing or consent of instructor.
- SOC 324 Sociology of Religion 3 hrs.
Analysis of relationship between religion and social structures; emphasis on anthropological and social context of the origin of religion, and relationship of religion to contemporary industrial societies.
- SOC 325 Science, Technology, and Society 3 hrs.
(Gen. Ed. SF)
Analysis of scientific and technological achievements, applications, and implications of the past half century, and their impact on the future. Emphasis on analysis of promises and threats of the growth of science and technology, and new ethical and social issues raised by technological progress. (Students with credit in HIS 385 may not take SOC 325.)

- SOC 326 Sociology of Globalization (Gen. Ed. SF) 3 hrs.
Analysis of the process of global integration and its impact on communities, social institutions, and culture. Emphasis on theories of social change and social conflict over the nature and pace of globalization and its impact on non-Western societies. Social Work Program

FACULTY Associate Professor Evens (Director);
Instructors Amos (Field Coordinator), Moody.

The purpose of the social work major is to prepare students for beginning practice in social work and to provide an educational foundation for students planning to pursue graduate studies in social work or other helping professions. The major provides a well-rounded academic and practice background in the generalist social work practice model. The social work program is accredited by the Council on Social Work Education.

The curriculum requires majors to complete 72 credit hours, including 21 hours of liberal arts requirements, 45 hours of social work requirements, and 6 hours of electives. A student may declare a social work major when admitted to Bradley; however, in order to progress to the professional practice component of the curriculum, a formal admission is required during the junior year.

The professional practice component includes practice courses and a field practicum. Students will complete a minimum of 420 field hours in an approved community agency.

It is important for students to consult with their social work advisor each semester to ensure that the requirements for the major are scheduled in the proper sequence. An overall gradepoint average of 2.25 is needed to graduate with a B.A. or B.S. in social work. A student must attain at least a "C" in all required social work courses.
