POSSIBLE SANCTIONS

Bradley University reserves the right to take whatever measures it deems necessary in response to an allegation of sexual misconduct in order to protect students’ rights and personal safety. Such measures include, but are not limited to, modification of living arrangements, interim suspension from campus pending a hearing, and reporting the matter to the local police. Not all forms of sexual misconduct will be deemed to be equally serious offenses and the university reserves the right to impose different sanctions, ranging from verbal warning to dismissal, depending on the severity of the offense. Bradley University will consider the concerns and rights of both the complainant and the person accused of sexual misconduct.

- Any student found responsible for violating the policy on Non-Consensual or Forced Sexual Contact (where no intercourse has occurred) will likely receive a sanction ranging from censure to dismissal, depending on the severity of the incident, and taking into account any previous campus conduct code violations.

- Any student found responsible for violating the policy on Non-Consensual or Forced Sexual Intercourse will likely face a sanction of suspension or dismissal.

- Any student found responsible for violating the policy on sexual exploitation or sexual harassment will likely receive a sanction ranging from verbal warning to dismissal, depending on the severity of the incident, and taking into account any previous campus conduct code violations.

The Center for Residential Living and Leadership and/or Title IX Investigator(s) reserves the right to broaden or lessen any range of recommended sanctions in the case of serious mitigating circumstances or egregiously offensive behavior. Neither the initial hearing officers nor any appeals body or officer will deviate from the range of recommended sanctions unless compelling justification exists to do so.
